Acknowledgements

I want to thank my family, Jimmy, Steven, Christopher, and Jeffrey for all their understanding during my long stint as a working mother during the time it took to write this manuscript.

I am most grateful to Edgar Tatro, one of the finest JFK assassination researchers in the country, for his patience, and for his editing, correcting, revisions, and suggestions, and for faithfully standing by me. He deserves a standing ovation.

The same is true of Rita M. Dinsmore, Mr. Tatro's trusted associate, who spent endless hours devoting her full support and efforts to typing and proofreading Texas In The Morning.

I want to thank Kevin Walsh, and my attorney, Miles H. Brown for their support during the traumatic days after Steven filed his lawsuit as well as during the critical two months he was declared a missing person. I must also thank them for helping us with Steven's tragic encounter with the U.S. Navy.

This book never would have been completed without Francis Rabon of Copy Pro Copies, who supplied countless copies of this manuscript as it was edited.

I also wish to thank Norma Langley of Star magazine, Hal Wingo, Kent Demaret of People magazine, Lillian Smith and Phil Donahue, Lori Weiss of Kelley and Company, and Gertrude Houston of P.M. Magazine, Walt Brown and Anthony Summers.

And last of all, I want to thank Bill and Kathleen Pulte for their long time support, help, and friendship.

Madeleine Duncan Brown

TEXAS IN THE MORNING

The Love Story of Madeleine Brown
And
President Lyndon Baines Johnson

MADELEINE DUNCAN BROWN

A HARRISON EDWARD LIVINGSTONE BOOK

The Conservatory Press
Baltimore